SECURE SPECIAL TRAIN FOR NEW CASTLE TRIP

Sunday School Workers
Plan to Attend State Convention

WILL LEAVE MONESSEN

Low Rate Fare Made Possible Through Efforts of Local Minister

Local people are greatly interested in the State Sabbath School convention to be held at New Castle this week and it is probable that, taking advantage of special rates, there will be a large delegation attend at least one session. Thursday will be the big day at the convention and a rate of cents the round trip has been made for a special train on the P. & L. E. railroad if 100 persons will go. The train will leave Monessen at 1:20 p.

Chief among the events of Thursday will be the Adult class demonstration, the address of Bishop Canevin on temperance and the men's parade, in which it is expected that at least 10,000 men will take part. The parade will be the event of Thursday night. Congressman Richmond Gibson will make an address at one of the New Castle churches after the parade and John Wanamaker of Philadelphia will also make an address.

There will be a number from Charleroi who will attend all the sessions of delegates of various Sunday schools, but indications are that the largest number will go on Thursday afternoon. Rev. J. T. Hackett, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, has been working up the matter and secured the special rate and train to Monessen.

According to arrangements prepared by Rev. Hackett the special train will leave Monessen at 1:30 in the afternoon on Thursday. It will be at Webster and Monongahela to take on passengers and at McKeesport will be added to another special train from that place to run straight through to New Castle. Special rates from all over the State will be into New Castle on that day. To secure the train it requires the raising of at least 100 to go at the rate fare of 90 cents and Rev. Hackett is now securing promises. One from along the valley may go to the train starts at Monessen. State Sunday School convention held at Altoona last year and it was a big affair. It is the intention to make this year's convention surpass the previous gathering.

CHILD FALLS INTO POND AND DROWNS

Two Potranin the 18 months old son of Mr. and Mrs. Carlo Potranin, of Monongahela fell into a pond near the home and was drowned Saturday. The body was covered over by boards and a plank door opened into it which the water is drawn. Another did not miss the babe and going to the pond for water recovered the child drowned.

S. McKean, Frank Arrison and Emerick were visitors in Pitts-

Monday evening.

Extend Aid at Austin

Railroad Men Help in Work of Relief at Scene of Awful Disaster

The action of 800 employees of the Renova car shops of the Pennsylvania Railroad, who went to Austin, voluntarily Sunday and assisted in removing the great piles of debris, was a beautiful tribute of brotherly love.

The men arrived early in the morning on a special non-revenue train furnished by the railroad officials. They worked steadily throughout the day and made telling inroads. With them they carried their own food.

Tired but happy the volunteer workmen left for their homes at night with a plan on foot, whereby each man employed in the Renova shops, about 1,000 is to contribute one dollar for the relief of Austin citizens.

BISHOP CANEVIN TO TALK

Noted Catholic Temperance Leader Will Attend Convention

MEETING AT NEW CASTLE

Among the speakers at the State Sunday School convention which opens tomorrow morning in New Castle, will be Right Rev. Canevin, Bishop of the Pittsburgh Diocese of the Roman Catholic church. H. J. Hein, the State president will be the chairman of the convention.

Bishop Canevin's topic will be "Temperance." He is especially qualified to speak on that topic, having for years being one of the leading temperance workers of the Pittsburgh district. Previous to the time of his appointment as Bishop, Right Rev. Canevin devoted much of his time to temperance work, and is national president of the Catholic Total Abstinence Union. Upon his appointment as Bishop he did not lessen his labors for the temperance cause but rather increased them. He is an interesting talker and will no doubt be heard with great interest. Bishop Canevin speaks Thursday.

Congressman Richmond Pearson Hobson of Alabama and John Wanamaker will speak on Thursday.

Given Wrong Name.

Through an error incident to the confusion and grief over the death of the little daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Olsavsky, Sunday the wrong name was given to the Mail for publication Monday. The name of the deceased should have been Elena Elizabeth, instead of Ludmila Anna. The latter is an older child who is in the land of the living.

SMALL CHILD DROWNS IN GALLON OF WATER

Infant Topples Into Lard Can Containing Small Amount of Water and Mother
Finds Its Life Extinct

Her desire to play in water led to the drowning Monday night of Lardella Mae Gaskins, the year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dorsey Gaskins, of 1107 Meadow avenue. The child was drowned in a gallon and a half of water in the bottom of a lard can. At about 9:30 o'clock, leaving the child for a moment in a room on the first floor Mrs. Gaskins went up stairs to get its night clothing. Seeing the lard can the baby made for it. Just learning to stand the little one grasped the edges of the can and pulled itself up.

Always fond of paddling in water, the clear liquid at the bottom of the can attracted little Lardella Mae and in her efforts to reach the water, it is supposed she tumbled in head foremost. No scream was heard by the mother. When she came down stairs she found her child practically dead. Doctors were called but it was too late.

The funeral will be held at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon and interment will be in the Charleroi cemetery. The child was a grand daughter of John Davis, a well known colored resident of the hill neighborhood.

MEETING OF COUNTY EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE CALLED BY CHAIRMAN

Republicans in Session at County Seat Today to Arrange for Campaign to be Waged This Fall

HEADQUARTERS FOR VARIOUS TOWNS SUGGESTED

Chairman C. E. Carothers of the Republican county committee has announced his executive committee, and is making preparations for a vigorous campaign. Permanent headquarters have been opened in the old Citizens National Bank building, and the matter of opening auxiliary quarters in Charleroi, Monongahela, McDonald, Burgettstown and other voting centers is being considered. The committee chosen is as follows:

John H. Donnan, East Washington (chairman).
W. W. Harkins, East Bethlehem.
John W. Hallam, Washington.
John F. Cooper, Monongahela.
A. W. Clemens, Buffalo.
John Cairns, Roscoe.
James Walker, East Pike Run.

Mark T. Richards, Chartiers.
Jesse H. Miller, Beallsville.
Chas. A. H. Anderson, Peters.
W. D. Martin, Morris.
Walter J. Weaver, California.
Harry Cooper, Jefferson.
Mark T. Wolf, Washington.
James H. Irvin, East Finley.
C. E. Thompson, Charleroi.
N. E. Evans, Amwell.
W. E. McLain, Claysville.
W. E. McGregor, Burgettstown.

Those campaigning for the ticket are being considered, and it is possible that the candidates may join forces and travel together in motor cars in making their canvass. The newly appointed executive committee was called to meet in Washington today.

LIGHT MATTER TO BE OPENED

Council to Take up Important Question at Adjourned Meeting

Council is scheduled to hold a regular adjourned meeting tonight, and it is said that the light contract for the borough will be taken up for final action. The letting of the contract has been deferred for some time in order that a few innovations might be tried. The West Penn Electric company, which holds the contract now, is the most notable bidder.

OUT-OF-TOWN PEOPLE SHOP MONDAY EVENING

The streets presented a busy appearance Monday evening, and were not unlike Saturday evening in appearance. The stores were open until 8:30 o'clock and there were a number here from nearby places to do shopping.

Republican Wins Nomination

By the official count it is decided that John A. Berkey wins the Republican nomination for Judge of Somerset county by a plurality of 13 over William H. Ruppel. The latter, who now fills the bench, is a Democrat, and was on the Republican ticket as a non-partisan candidate and is also on the Democratic, Prohibition, Keystone and Socialist tickets.

Evangelist at Monessen.

A revival is in progress at the Christian church at Monessen. Evangelist Joyce of New Paris, Ohio, is assisting the pastor, Rev. T. H. Hughes, and the first week closed Saturday with flattering prospects. The meetings continue all this week.

SARVER HELD RESPONSIBLE

Coroner's Jury Renders Verdict in the Death of Joshua Wyeth

At an inquest into the death of Jack Wyeth of Monongahela Coroner J. T. Heffran's jury returned a verdict Monday that the victim had come to his death by a blow on the head and recommended that John W. Sarver, Jr., be apprehended and held for court trial on a charge of murder.

License Transfer Refused.

The Westmoreland county court on Saturday refused to transfer the license of the Grand Hotel at Monessen from P. M. Dwyer to E. A. Peach. The hotel had been sold subject to transfer of the license. At the last session of the license court the latter made it plain that no transfers would be granted except in extreme cases of sickness or financial trouble.

Want Burglars.

Belle Vernon police are looking for burglars who on last Friday night broke into and robbed the Shloss Clothing store. Entrance was made through a cellar door, which had been left unlocked. A boy's suit and a pair of shoes comprised practically all the articles taken.

BODY OF MURDERED MAN BROUGHT TO LATE HOME

Elks Will Have Hunt

Members of Local Lodge Prepare for Annual Hunting Contest

Members of Charleroi Lodge, No. 494, B. P. O. Elks will hold a hunting contest this year, as usual and C. W. Weltner, and James Walker have been chosen captains of the opposing sides. A meeting was held on last Saturday evening to make preliminary arrangements for the affair and another meeting will be held on Friday, October 20, when the sides will be chosen and the laws governing the hunt will be made by the hunt committee.

It was arranged to have the hunt take place November 2, 3, and 4. On the hunt committee the following were appointed: R. P. Ferguson, chairman; Tom P. Sloan, K. W. Daly and J. Bryant Tussing.

RIPPER BILL TO NOT RIP

Final Opinion On Mayor and Burgess Question
Handed Down

HAS WHOLESALE EFFECT

By a decision of the State Supreme Court rendered at Pittsburgh yesterday the question of whether or not Charleroi and all the other towns in the State is to elect a burgess this fall, is finally settled in the negative. The present incumbents holds over, and no official will have his term of office cut short from the intention of the Legislature to conform to transferring the municipal election from February to November.

The decision was handed down by Justice Mestrezat of the Supreme Court. There are really two opinions one relating to cities of the second class, which disposes of all doubt as to Pittsburgh and Scranton and the other towns and cities of the third class which fixes the status of officials in cities and towns of the rest of the State. The specific cases, however, refer to Pittsburgh and McKeesport.

The opinion of Judge L. L. Davis, rendered a few weeks ago, is reversed and that of Judges Shafer and Haymaker sustained. The contention, as to the shortening of terms was based on the interpretation of a constitutional amendment adopted in 1909.

fied by Uncle on Monday

MAN NOW UNDER ARREST

Supposed Companion of the Young Lithuanian Held
at Monongahela.

Walter Plakatis, of Charleroi, was the man supposedly murdered near Riverview, last Saturday night. He was identified late Monday by his uncle, John Plakatis, of 914 Fallowfield avenue, and the body was brought here this morning. The murdered man was 22 years old.

According to the story told by the friends of the young Lithuanian he received his pay at the Macbeth-Evans Glass company on Saturday and in the evening started for Pittsburgh. He told a friend that he had to catch a certain car which left here shortly after 7 o'clock.

Another man is said to have got on the car with him, going to Riverview. It is supposed that the two got off together at the latter place, Plakatis intending to catch a car a little later to Pittsburgh. He had, it is said, practically all his pay for the week in his pocket, but that wouldn't total more than $20. While at the lonely spot near Riverview where his body was later found, it is supposed that he was attacked, but what became of his supposed friend of a moment before is a question.

Plakatis worked in the pot house at the local chimney factory and was a well liked young man. His friends think like others that he was murdered for his money. Coroner Heffran is investigating. The funeral will be held at 9 o'clock Wednesday morning with mass at St. Jerome's church. Interment will be in Calvary cemetery.

Claimant Dargast, who is thought to have been the companion of Plakatis when the latter left Charleroi, was placed under arrest at Courtney and is now being held at Monongahela. He was arrested for shooting a revolver at Courtney Monday night and when taken to Monongahela it was found that he answered accurately the description of the companion of Plakatis. He will be held indefinitely. Dargast for 18 months was an inmate at the Huntingdon Reformatory and was let go from there four months ago.

LECTURE COURSE IS PERFECTED

Arrangements are now complete at Washington for the season of 1911-12 during which the University Extension Lecture association will present to the Washington public Prof. Charles Zeubin in a series of six lectures and Nox McCain in four new All American Travelogues. This double course is made possible only by the liberal patronage which has been given to the previous courses under university auspices.

Fayette City Wins.

The town of Fayette City took a half holiday Monday to witness the final baseball game of the season between that town and Cokeburg. Fayette City won by a score of 9 to 4.

NO COMPARISON.

E. W. Acheson, through the Washington Observer, endeavors to draw a parallel between the slate of county officials he made in 1905 and the so-called Republican slate nominated at the recent primary. There is not only no distinction between the two but a vast difference as well.

The Republican slate of 1905 was designed by Mr. Acheson, nominated by Mr. Acheson, and approved by no one but Mr. Acheson. As the nominations of the Republican party it won the extraordinary use of boodle, bribe and the frantic appeals to partisan prejudices.

The so-called Republican slate of 1911 may have been named by a coalition of interested politicians as charged, but it had to be submitted to the voters in open election, and it had to take its chances in a field against other good candidates. That it won, may be charged as much if not more to the merits of the candidates themselves as to the help it got from the alleged combination. The people were the final arbiters. They had the chance to break the so-called slate if it were obnoxious to them.

In Mr. Acheson's regime the people had no voice whatever in the matter. He stifled all competition, assured the rights of the people, and stuffed the ballot for his own interests. The people had no choice in the nomination of candidates, and there was no competition. The offices were handed out to those selected by Mr. Acheson to receive them, and no one dared to protest.

FOOLPROOF.

Manufacturers of high grade machinery usually advertise the fact that a particular merit of their product is that it is "foolproof," that is,
it is made to withstand all the ordinary requirements of usage, but in addition extra strength is added to insure against abuse and ill usage.
In other words, it is made extra

strong on account of the fool that usually runs it. If it were always cared for by an expert the machine could be sold much cheaper and thus cut down in the cost of production of whatever commodity it is designed to produce.

Thus it will be seen that a first-class product in the way of a machine is the one that is designed to meet the extraordinary requirements that may be put upon it, and which are always sure to come in most instances.
This is a wise provision, and if the same policy were carried out in all constructive enterprises, there would be less disasters and loss of life. The bursting of the Austin dam is a striking example, because the dam was not built "foolproof." It was constructed to withstand all the ordinary requirements, but no provisions were made for the extraordinary.
It could hold the extra pressure of the ordinary freshet, but it could not withstand a deluge, one of the extraordinary conditions that Nature
now and again imposes.

This failure to provide for the extraordinary is manifested on every side. Railroads seldom are prepared for extraordinary falls of snow or rain. Mines make no provisions for extraordinary accumulations of gas or mine dust. People living along low river banks usually trust to Providence until the rainy day brings ru-ination. Large buildings, tenements, factories and workshops generally are illegally provided with precautions for safety, not only of the inmates but of the property itself, and the tremendous fire losses each year are in a measure due to the absence of "foolproof" precautions. It is the extraordinary condition every time that brings out the true test of endurance or stability and those who are not prepared for it must suffer the consequences.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

Nearly every man has some kind of fanatical hobby at some time during his existence or acquires a mania for some kind of specialty but the limit
was reached, according to the story of a Charleroi man the other day when a man acquired a belief that a cat had a soul and that man could learn something about what eternity has in store for him from the cat.

"The man of whom I speak acquired the worst mania you ever saw with the idea that all you had to do to commune with those who had their souls' destiny in charge, was to capture a black cat, get into a dark cellar and rub its fur. He thought the light that showed was the cat's soul
and he had the queerest system of deduction you ever heard of in reaching his conclusions.

"I always thought his place was in an insane asylum. However he never seemed to get there. Nevertheless he acquired a positive genius for hunting out and capturing black cats and the neighborhood where he lived was as safe to the suspicious person who was afraid to cross the path of a black cat, as the best lighted street in town.

"After a while he recovered from his mania. It was because he could not get the desired results, I suppose.
Then we all knew it was only a hobby, and went and acquired a few queer hobbies ourselves. It is my opinion that every human being has
in his make-up a trace of insanity and shows it by his hobbies, queer to the extreme, which he acquires at various periods during his life time."

A traveling man tells a story of a tenderfoot who recently visited the cattle country in Arizona. At a small town in which was located the customary saloon and gambling house the stranger entered and approaching the bar called for a drink.
The barkeeper handed him a bottle, a glass and a wisp broom. The tender-foot was wise as to the use of the bottle and glass, but he was at a loss to account for the wisp broom. Not desiring to appear ignorant, he filled his glass and stood with it in his hand, surveying a gambling table apparently, but in reality waiting to see if some one else would precede him and enlighten him as to the use of the wisp.

Presently a cowboy approached the bar and called for a drink. He too was served with the bottle, glass and wisp. Gulping the fiery liquid he rushed to an unoccupied spot in the saloon, and with his wisp broom swept a clean place on the floor and then proceeded to throw a fit, which the variety of whiskey produced.

REAL MADAME "SANS-GENE"

Story of Adventurous Career of Marie
Therese Figueur in the French Army.

Everyone knows the washerwoman
who was so familiar with Napoleon
in Victorien Sardou's play, "Madame Sans-Genie," but the real "Sans-Genie" who lived at that time was a diagone in one of the great Corsican's armies and spent twenty years in camps and barracks, in campaigns and battles over Europe. In the Musee de L'Ar-mee in Paris a special case has just been installed inside which stands
her equestrian statue.

Her real name was Marie Therese Figueur and she was born in Burgundy in 1774. When nineteen, at the end of the reign of terror, she enrolled in a cavalry regiment commanded by one of her uncles and soon acquired the nickname of "Sans-Genie." Mme. Sans-Genie fought in Germany with the French and Batavian armies, charged at Hohenlinden, took part in the siege of Toulon, was in the Italian, Spanish and Austrian campaigns and fought at Austerlitz and in Russia. During the Hundred Days the emperor conferred the Legion of Honor upon her and she charged at Waterloo for the last time.

With the Restoration she left the army to get married. She was then thirty-nine. In the course of her marital career Sans-Genie had five horses shot under her and was wounded
eight times in different engagements.
She died in hospital in 1861.

The Nation of Hotel Keepers.

The "playground of Europe" is the very appropriate name bestowed upon Switzerland. In the summer time tourists come from all parts of the world and fill the hotels—the best organized and best kept of any in the world—for the Swiss are a nation of hotel keepers. The statement of the Chocolate Soldier, the hero of Bernard Shaw's "Arms and the Man," that his family has a home with three hundred rooms, fifty servants, twenty cows and so on, sounded like a baro-linal tale until he explained that he was the son of a Swiss hotel keeper.
Now the long and severe Swiss winter has been turned to advantage,
and even when the great, blue lakes are frozen, and the snow mantles the lower hills, the tourist still raves
over the varied beauties and grandeur
of the Swiss scenery and the many delights of her mountain hostilities.—

ONE MILLION DOLLARS FOR A GOOD STOMACH

This Offer Should Be a Warning
to Every Man and Women

The newspaper and medical journals recently have had much to say relative to a famous millionaire's offer of a million dollars for a new stomach.

This great multi-millionaire was too busy to worry about the condition of his stomach. He allowed his dyspepsia to run from bad to worse until in the end it became incurable.
His misfortune serves as a warning to others.

Every one who suffers with dyspepsia for a few years will give everything he owns for a new stomach.

Dyspepsia is commonly caused by an abnormal state of the gastric juices, or by lack of tone in the walls of the stomach. The result is that the stomach loses its power to digest food.

We are now able to supply certain missing elements—to help to restore to the gastric juices their digestive power, and to aid in making the stomach strong and well.

We know that Rexall Dyspepsia
Tablets are a most dependable remedy for disordered stomachs, indigestion,
and dyspepsia.

We want you to try them and will return your money if you are not more than satisfied with the result.

Three sizes, 25 cents, 50 cents and
$1.00. Remember, you can obtain Rexall Remedies in this community

Ancient Roman Long Branch.

The sea coast of Laurentum may have been in favor with the fashionable and the wealthy for a brief space of time under Augustus and his immediate successors, but was given up quite soon to parvenues and merchants and retired officers, and the same set of noisy people who haunt at the present day the popular watering places of the world. To make the analogy more striking, an inscription has been found at La Capocotta singing the praises of a wealthy Jew, and revealing the fact that a synagogue had been built at Ostia for the use of the Semitic "illleggianti" on the neighboring coast.

The Ghost Walked.

The mistaken idea that one's troubles end with death was set aside in Starwich v. Washington Cut Glass Company 21 Wash. Dec. No. 13 (Adv.
Sheets), in which the supreme court of Washington first announced that the defendant corporation "gave up the ghost." How it died is not fully apparent, but having yielded its spirit to the one who made it, it still retained its worldly cares, for in the next sentence the court said: "But that did not deliver it from the burden of its contracts."

Evidently, in this case, the ghost walked, being "in torment." Who shall henceforth say that corporations have no souls?—Case and Comment.

HARD BATTLE FOR THE DOG

Sport Killed the Big Bob Cat, but He Suffered Severely in the Combat.

After a battle in which he came near meeting death himself, Sport, a medium sized coach dog, the property of W. M. Butterbaugh, a rancher living in Lemp's Gulch, Idaho, killed a bob cat that measured six feet from nose to tip of tail.

The dog was terribly scratched and bitten and has not yet entirely recovered. He was mauled by the long, sharp claws of the big cat and in some places the scratches are deep, digging clear to the bone. The cat would weigh half again as much as the dog,
and towered above him in height.

Mr. Butterbaugh did not see the fight but arrived on the scene shortly after the dog had killed the cat and found his faithful friend lying on the ground, unable to move, and scarcely living. It looked at the time like a bad case, but he succeeded in nursing the animal back to life.

"For some days we had been missing chickens," Mr. Butterbaugh said,
"and I was unable to figure out what was killing them. I would get up in the morning and find one or two lying dead in the barnyard, still warm, and I could not tell what sort of an animal was doing the mischief."

"But Sport figured it out, and one morning I heard him take out after something. I got up as soon as I could and followed up the gulch, expecting that they would take that trail. When I got there I found the dog lying on the ground and the big cat dead."

"The dog had chased him up there, but the cat had turned on him and shown fight. They must have fought there 15 minutes before the battle was settled. And from the looks of both the cat and the dog it must have been a terrible battle."

An Incident of the Road.

"Stop!" cried the man in the road.
"You are exceeding the speed limit."
"That's all nonsense," retorted Binks, bringing his car to a standstill.

"That's what they all say," said the man in the road, climbing into the car.
"You can tell your story to the magistrate at Hinktown—just seven miles up the road. Start along, please."

They drove on in silence to Hink-town, where, as the car drew up in front of the courthouse, the man in the road got out.

"Much obliged for the lift," said
he. "You can settle that matter of speed with the magistrate if you want to. As a stranger in these here parts
I don't think my word would go for much."

POLITICS UP RIVER

California Has Four Tickets and Warm Fight is Promised

COAL COMPANY ON JOB

California, which has 557 registered voters has as much red hot politics to the square inch as any other district in the county. Like many of the smaller towns local politics divides more on personal factions than upon party issues. For some time past there has been a factional feeling between some of the town people and the interests of the Vesta Coal mining company, and many of the local battles are fought out on that issue. Whatever the coal company officials are for, many of the town people are "agin."

It is this factional feeling, perhaps which has kept the Keystone company in line. The coal company officials are good party men for the dominant ticket, and the opponents who are not Democrats gravitate unerringly into the Keystone party. In the recent primary election the local fight waxed warm, and with the result that there are four tickets in the field for local borough officials. These are Republican, Democratic, Keystone and Socialist. What complicates the matter more than ever, is that some candidates appear on two and three of the tickets, which is likely to cause a mixed up affair at the election.

For instance N. K. Wiley, for school director for two years, appears on the Republican, the Democratic and Keystone tickets, but is not on the Socialist ticket. Thomas Morgan, for high constable, is on the Democratic, Keystone and Socialist tickets, but is opposed by H. B. Lake on the Republican ticket. S. A. Barnum for school director for six years is on both the Democratic and Keystone tickets, but the Republicans nominated for that term L. D. Piper, and the Socialists Arthur Hawthorne. L. D. Piper was also nominated on both the Democratic and Keystone tickets for council for two years. For the four year term of council each of the tickets contain different candidates.

With the exception of T. J. Underwood for sheriff, the Republican slate of county candidates received decisive majorities in California borough. Mr. Underwood carried his home town over his opponent, R. G. Lutton, by a vote of 173 to 75. There was no fusion between the Democrats and Keystone in the borough contest as in the county, and a merry fight at the November election is indicated.

Refuse Requisition.

Governor Tener on Saturday refused to grant requisition papers for A. A. Purman of Waynesburg. The Governor of Iowa made the demand for A. A. Purman, but was refused on legal grounds. The charge was false pretense.

Read These Facts About BUTTERINE

Butterine contains more food properties than butter. It costs only half as much as good butter. Its use is more beneficial to the health than butter. It is germ proof, while butter has some tendency to germ culture. It contains the same elements as butter, and is made in a more perfect and sanitary way. It is used in many instances in preference to butter, because it is better. It gives better service than butter. It does not become rancid easily. It is clean, sweet and pure.

FIRST MEETING HELD BY MONESSEN CLUB

The Woman's Club of Monessen opened the season Friday afternoon with a president's day meeting and reception at the home of Mrs. John S. Duvall on Fourth street. Mrs. Duvall is the newly elected president. She was assisted in receiving by the retiring president of the club, Mrs. J. K. Boyd, and the other newly elected officers for the ensuing year. They are Mrs. E. C. Sattley, vice president; Mrs. C. L. Schuck, secretary and Mrs. T. S. Adams' treasurer. A short musical and literary program was carried out. Mrs. Duvall's inaugural address being one of the most instructive and interesting features. Mrs. R. H. Thatcher rendered a violin solo and Mrs. A. L. Arner and Mrs. J. K. Boyd sang a duet. Meetings of the club will be held twice a month during the season.

DODGE THE POSTAGE STAMP

Foreign Countries Devising Schemes for Benefit of Large Users of the Mails.

Any man who can devise a practical substitute for the postage stamp will deserve the gratitude of every large business house in the world, and may earn a large fortune. For the labor of affixing stamps to their enormous mail necessitates in some firms the employment of a special clerical staff.

In the postoffices of some countries steps in this direction have already been taken. Here, for instance, newspapers and magazines are mailed by their publishers in bulk without stamps, and the postage is paid in a lump sum of one cent a pound. Then, again, some firms that send out large quantities of circulars register themselves under a certain number at the postoffice, their envelopes are printed with this number and the circulars so mailed are paid for in bulk. In Bavaria large consignments of letters may merely be postmarked by machinery and sent without stamps, the postage fee being paid in a lump sum at the time of mailing. It is said that since February 1, 1910, this system has saved the Bavarian postoffice the expense for paper and the printing cost for 10,000,000 stamps.

A writer in the Umschau, a German publication, suggests a further development of this system along the lines of a meter, like those used for water, gas and electricity, in which the letters would be placed and automatically stamped with a postmark, the machine recording each letter so mailed. These machines would be inspected periodically and the bills collected, just as are those of the consumer of gas or water.

Jim's Wife.

After the report had been current for a week that Jim's wife, whom Jim had met and married and was still secluding in Chicago, was ugly as sin, a friend who had Jim's interests at heart, ran down the author of the rumor with the intention of making her retract.

"How do you know she is ugly?" he asked. "Have you ever seen her?" "No," said the experienced gossip. "I never have, neither have I seen her picture, nor anybody who has seen either her or her picture, but I know she is ugly, because I had it straight from a person who lives in Chicago that when she ordered a dozen pictures taken just a while before the wedding the photographer made her pay in advance, and a photographer never does that unless the subject is so ugly that she is apt to be discouraged when she sees the pictures and refuse to pay for them on the ground that he hasn't done good work. If you don't believe me ask any photographer."

But Jim's champion let the matter drop.—New York Times

LIVERY STABLE STOCK IN VENICE!

If a man of ordinary intelligence were approached by an affable stranger and urged to buy stock in a livery stable in Venice, he would in all likelihood feel insulted. He would have reason to be, for such an offer would be a reflection on his intelligence.

It is along lines like this that some business men advertise.

For instance: A clothier has a line of suits near the end of the season that he desires to close out. He advertises them at a sharp reduction. Compared with what he paid for them and what he sold them for at the opening of the season, they are a bargain. The public does not want the suits at that particular time at any price, and the clothier, not getting the results, makes a deduction that advertising doesn't pay, and ceases to advertise.

In the meantime the big department store in the nearest city is flooding the newspapers with cuts and descriptions of nifty ties, collars, marked down shirts that are good at any time, seasonable underwear at special prices that is needed to fill in between times.

The local dealer is disappointed because people won't buy stock in a livery stable in Venice; and loses the sale of other stocks that might be practicable.

The department store in the city gets the trade because it knows that the ordinary person has no use for something he does not need at that particular time.

The business man who never gets advertising to produce results are the Micawbers of trade—always waiting for something to turn up. The man who knows how to advertise, and tries to sell the people something they want, WHEN THEY WANT IT and not to unload what he doesn't want—turns something up.

ROSSINI FAMOUS AS A WIT

Rossini's witticisms bubbled forth at all times and under all circumstances, says Musical Opinion. On one occasion a gentleman called upon him to enlist his aid in procuring for him an engagement at the opera. He was a drummer and had taken the precaution to bring his instrument. Rossini said he would hear him "play," and it was agreed that he should show off in the overture to "Semiramide."

Now, the very first bar of the overture contained a tremolo for the drum, and when this had been performed the player remarked, "Now I have a rest of 78 bars—these, of course, I will skip." This was too good a chance to be lost. "O, no," said the composer, "by all means count the 78 bars; I particularly want to hear those." Rossini's whimsicality extended even to his birthday. Having been born on February 29, in leap year, he had, of course, a birthday once in four years, and when he was seventy-two he facetiously invited his friends to celebrate his eighteenth birthday.

The late Sir Arthur Sullivan made his acquaintance in Paris. One morning, when Sullivan called to see him, he found him trying over a small piece of music. "What is that?" asked Sullivan. "It's my dog's birthday," replied, very seriously, "and I write a little piece for him every year."

When Rossini was once rehearsing one of his operas in a small theater in Italy he noticed that the horn was out of tune. "Who is that playing the horn in such an unholly way?" he demanded. "It is I," said a tremulous voice. "Ah, it is you, is it? Well, go right home." It was his own father!

UNCLE HIRAM TO HIS NEPHEW

He Hopes the Boy Will Turn Out to Be Good Judge of Men, When His Turn Comes.

"Stevy, my boy," said Uncle Hiram to his hopeful nephew, "I hope it will turn out that you are a good judge of men, for by virtue of that quality a man is able in effect to multiply his own power."

"It is a common thing to hear people say that the more pay a man gets, the less work he does, and as to the doing of actual labor this may be true; somebody else saw the wood while he sits by the fire."

"As a matter of fact there are plenty of men high up who still work hard, and all of them certainly worked hard when they were younger, and if they are doing less actual labor now it is because they are good judges of men, able to pick out for the business under their direction just the right men to do the work and carry it forward successfully."

"Really it is in the exercise of this gift that we find the greatest value in a manager; it is just this that makes him worth his high pay. We want him to sit around and take things easy and give himself time to think and keep his head clear. We don't want him to get out and chop down trees; we want him to be able to select men who can do that work to the greatest advantage and with the greatest economy."

"Some of us know men on sight and some don't. I hope, Stevey, that you will turn out to be a good judge of men."

DANDRUFF AND ITCH- ING SCALP YIELD TO ZEMO TREATMENT

Why should you continue to experiment with salves, greasy lotions and fancy hair dressings trying to rid your scalp of germ life. They can't do it because they cannot penetrate to the seat of the trouble and draw the germ life to the surface of the scalp and destroy it.

Why not try a PROVEN REMEDY? One that will do this. We have a remedy that will rid the scalp of germ life and in this way will cure DANDRUFF AND ITCHING SCALP.

This remedy is ZEMO (ANTISEPTIC SOAP) and one application of ZEMO will entirely rid the scalp of dandruff and scurf. Do not hesitate, but get a bottle of ZEMO today. It acts on a new principle and will do exactly what we claim for it.

Sold and endorsed in Charleroi by the Piper Bros. Drug Store.

Lungs Declared Sound— Life Insurance Granted

If you knew a remedy that really had cured Tuberculosis, that had saved from death quite a number of people, would you try to get Consumptives interested in it and induce them to take it; or, would you say nothing about it, for fear of giving offense?

We know the medicine. We know the people cured—some of them. We have the stories of cure of many—and affidavits from some. We advertise Eckman's Alternative to tell those who have lung disease what has been done by its use. Investigate the following:—
"Gentlemen: On the evening of May 13, 1907, I had five hemorrhages from the right lung. My hemorrhages kept up for one week—I had twenty eight in all. Septic pneumonia developed. My doctor told me I had better go to another climate as my left lung had also become affected. About that time I met Howard Klotz, 1610 Susquehanna Ave., Philadelphia, who had hemorrhages several years ago and who was cured by Eckman's Alternative. I started to take Eckman's Alternative the latter part of August, 1907. My appetite improved at once and in about two weeks I started to gain weight. I improved steadily. Since my recovery sometime ago, I was accepted for life insurance, after two examinations by a company that had previously rejected me."

"I have advised several people to take Eckman's and those who took it faithfully had the same results as myself."
(Signed Affidavit) CLAS MORGAN.
(Fuller details of this case on request.)
Eckman's Alternative is effective in Bronchitis, Asthma, Hay Fever, Throat and Lung Troubles, and in rebuilding the system. Does not contain poisons, opiates or habit-forming drugs. Ask for booklet of cured cases, and write to Eckman Laboratory, Philadelphia, Pa., for more evidence. For sale by all leading druggists and

TO SHOW METHODS

Mining Demonstration to be Given at Arsenal Station

PRESIDENT TAFT COMING

About three years ago, when the United States Laboratory, at the old Arsenal grounds, Pittsburg, was just emerging from its infancy into lusty youth, representatives of bureaus of mining of foreign governments came to America to see tests of explosives and other experiments at the laboratory and to visit some of the model mines of the Pittsburg region. An expert was present at those tests and each and all of the foreigners said to him that the experimentally machinery and the intellectual equipment of the laboratory was more complete than any similar plant in their own countries.

At that time the laboratory was operated under direction of the Geological Survey at Washington. A Bureau of Mines had only been thought of. Then came the bureau in connection with the Department of the Interior, with Dr. J. A. Holmes, who formerly directed the experiments as the chief of the Bureau of Mines. With additional equipment, authority and appropriation of moneys, the laboratory has increased its machinery for operation and other phases of the work until it is beyond all comparison the most elaborate and thorough institution of its type in all the world.

In the presence of this new and universal importance the Bureau of Mines by authority of the Government Department under which it operates, has organized a National Mine Safety Demonstration, the first in America and with an elaboration which has never been approached in the world. From morning until night on the 30th and 31st of this month, these demonstrations will occupy every hour and minute. In this vast mining region the demonstrations will be of interest to all, but of profoundest interest to those immediately connected with mining and most especially to practical miners and operators, as they have to do directly with prevention of explosions which have been so disastrous in the past years, with consideration for the safety of miners and their immediate relief in the event that explosions occur.

It is expected that more than 20,000 miners will be present, chosen representatives of important interests in every coal mining State. They will witness explosions of various kinds of explosives, the effect of them in varying conditions of gases and coal dust in the mine mines at the laboratory and at one to be erected at Forbes Field much larger than any that has yet been constructed; and not only this, but they will be brought to the experimental mine near Bruce-ton, a short distance from Pittsburg, where explosions will be produced in an actual mine and the mine representatives brought into the mine immediately after to show them how quickly the shaft and rooms can be cleared of all gases.

All of the most approved machinery for safety and rescue will be exhibited in operation. More thrilling than any stage drama will be the actual explosions; apparent destruction of life; acts of rescue; the safety oxygen helmets by rescuers; treatment of miners seriously injured; resuscitation of men apparently dead by use of wonderful oxygen pumps; rescue ambulance and cars; first aid to the injured in the event of any kind of accident; a scene, in its aggregate, which has never before been witnessed in the world. While the explosions and first aid demonstrations at Forbes Field will be as absorbing as could well be imagined, the greatest interest of the visiting mines will be the actual explosion in the experimental mine at Bruce-ton, the first exhibition of its kind ever made, advertised in advance and certain to occur, but destruction of property which follow the unexpected explosions.

Additional and exceptional interest will be given to the entire program by the fact that much of it will have the presence of President Taft, who "kills two birds with one stone" by coming on to the mine demonstrations and the Centenary Steam Navigation on Pittsburg's rivers.

Albert Eckel has gone to Newark, N. J.

Mrs. A. R. Mountsier went to Elizabeth today to visit relatives.

MYSTERY OF THE HOUSEHOLD

Disappearance and Return of Lady's Summer Dress Couldn't Be Laid to the Servant.

Up spoke the woman who likes to keep her apartment in order: "A household mystery happens once in awhile," she said. "I had one a few days ago about a summer dress that I bought last fall when the weather was too cold to wear it. I packed it away and forgot about it until the other day. Then I went to the box in a certain closet where I knew I had put it. The dress wasn't there. I looked through the rest of the closet without any better success. Then I got excited and turned everything upside down everywhere that I thought it could be. Finally I went into the storeroom and looked through all the trunks. Not a sign of it. So I had to give it up. "Later my servant brought me a box which had come up the dumb waiter. Inside was my dress. There wasn't a mark on the box to show that it belonged to me. The only explanation I could think of was that some one had taken it, found that it didn't fit and had decided to return it." "It never occurred to you, did it, that that some one could have been your servant?" she was asked. "No, it didn't," said she with a smile. "You see, he's a Jap."—New York Sun.

She Knew What to Do. A North side matron, directing an electric coupe for the first time, ventured far out on the South side and punctured a tire. She drove home on the rim and came in for a scientific treatise on tires from her husband. "Never drive the electric with a busted tire," said he. "It will ruin the tire, and tires cost money." Another puncture followed a few days later, but this time she was not far from home. Also this time she did not drive the rest of the way. She sat in her chariot and six boys pushed her home.—Chicago Post.

A Fallible Father-in-Law. Two of the glided youth of Providence, R. I., were in Newport and came upon a newsboy. "Let me have a paper," said one of them, giving the boy 50 cents. "I can't change that," said the boy. "Lend me a nickel," the glided youth asked his companion. "Oh, bother, let him have the 50 cents." "No, indeed! You let him have it if you like. My father-in-law is not dead, and yours is."—Life.

The Collector. The late Edwin A. Abbey had no sympathy with those American millionaires who pay $400,000 or $500,000 for a doubtful Rembrandt or an imputed Fragonard, while painters of genius in their own towns are starving for lack of orders. Mr. Abbey at a dinner at his London residence in Tite street, said last year, apropos of the purchase by a New Yorker of a doubtful Titian at an inflated price: "This type of man knows nothing about art. A man of this type, when Whistler was not yet famous, wanted his wife's portrait done. "How much will you charge me, Mr. Whistler," he said, "for a lifesize picture of the madam?" "My price," said Whistler, "will be $2,500." "The millionaire took up his hat and tick." "Why," he snorted, turning to go, you expect to be paid for your work is if you had been dead 400 or 500 years!"

White Heron in New Jersey. Local naturalists and bird lovers are interested in a number of white heron which are making their headquarters at "Avis" Pond, Woodstown, N. J., about a mile from town. The birds were first noticed about a week ago. These are the birds from which algettes are obtained. Extinction of the species is feared because the algettes can be obtained only when the bird is raising its young, and its death at the hands of the hunter also means starvation of the young heron.

Gentlemen Take Notice

The other day a man came in the store, and said "Give me another pair of them Co-Operative shoes, if you haven't got them don't show me anything else, I'd rather have you send for a special pair. I have tried, honest, every shoe sold in this town, from the most unknown to the most bragged about, but never did I have as satisfactory a pair as this Co-Operative I have on my feet, and I want another pair".

but what has been called the McKeesport "ripper" was due to an act of the last Legislature defining the terms of officials of cities of the third class and which it had been claimed was "sneaked" through in the closing hours of the Legislature.

This finally settles the contention on which attorneys were divided and although the commissioners had refused to permit the names of burgesses and other officials affected to be printed on the tickets, there was still a question as to the legality of their action until the Supreme Court had passed upon the question. The case testing the legality of the question was brought from Pittsburg.

SECURE SPECIAL TRAIN FOR NEW CASTLE TRIP

Sunday School Workers
Plan to Attend State Convention

WILL LEAVE MONESSEN

Low Rate Fare Made Possible Through Efforts of
Local Minister

Local people are greatly interested in the State Sabbath School convention to be held at New Castle this week and it is probable that, taking advantage of special rates, there will be a large delegation attend at least session. Thursday will be the big day at the convention and a rate of cents the round trip has been made a special train on the P. & L. E. road if 100 persons will go. The train will leave Monessen at 1:20 p.

Chief among the events of Thursday will be the Adult class demonstration, the address of Bishop Canevin on temperance and the men's part, in which it is expected that at least 10,000 men will take part. The day will be the event of Thursday. Congressman Richmond will make an address at one of the New Castle churches after the day and John Wanamaker of Philadelphia will also make an address.

There will be a number from Charleroi who will attend all the sessions delegates of various Sunday schools, but indications are that the largest number will go on Thursday morning. Rev. J. T. Hackett, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, has been working up the matter and secured the special rate and train to Monessen.

According to arrangements prepared by Rev. Hackett the special train will leave Monessen at 1:30 in the afternoon on Thursday. It will stop at Webster and Monongahela to pick up passengers and at McKeesport will be added to another special train from that place to run straight through to New Castle. Special trains from all over the State will be added into New Castle on that day. To secure the train it requires the use of at least 100 to go at the rate fare of 90 cents and Rev. Hackett is now securing, promises from along the valley may go the train starts at Monessen. State Sunday School convention held at Altoona last year and it is a big affair. It is the intention to make this year's convention surpass the previous gathering.

LD FALLS INTO POND AND DROWNS

o Potranin the 13 months old son of Mrs. Carlo Portranin, of Monongahela fell into a pond near the home and was drowned Saturday. The child was covered over by boards and plank door opened into it in which the water is drawn. The other did not miss the babe and going to the pond for water found the child drowned.

Railroad Men Help in Work
of Relief at Scene of
Awful Disaster

The action of 800 employees of the Renova car shops of the Pennsylvania Railroad, who went to Austin voluntarily Sunday and assisted in removing the great piles of debris, was a beautiful tribute of brotherly love.

The men arrived early in the morning on a special non-revenue train furnished by the railroad officials. They worked steadily throughout the day and made telling inroads. With them they carried their own food.

Tired but happy the volunteer workmen left for their homes at night with a plan on foot, whereby each man employed in the Renova shops, about 1,000 is to contribute one dollar for the relief of Austin citizens.

BISHOP CANEVIN TO TALK

Noted Catholic Temperance Leader Will Attend Convention

Among the speakers at the State Sunday School convention which opens tomorrow morning in New Castle, will be Right Rev. Canevin, Bishop of the Pittsburgh Diocese of the Roman Catholic church. H. J. Heinz, the State president will be the chairman of the convention.

Bishop Canevin's topic will be "Temperance." He is especially qualified to speak on that topic, having for years being one of the leading temperance workers of the Pittsburgh district. Previous to the time of his appointment as Bishop, Right Rev. Canevin devoted much of his time to temperance work, and is a national president of the Catholic Total Abstinence Union. Upon his appointment as Bishop he did not lessen his labors for the temperance cause but rather increased them. He is an interesting talker and will no doubt be heard with great interest. Bishop Canevin speaks Thursday.

Congressman Richmond Pearson Hobson of Alabama and John Wanamaker will speak on Thursday.

SMALL CHILD DROWNS IN GALLON OF WATER

Infant Topples Into Lard Can Containing Small Amount of Water and Mother
Finds Its Life Extinct

Her desire to play in water led to the drowning Monday night of Burnella Mae Gaskins, the year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dorsey Gaskins, of 1107 Meadow avenue. The child was drowned in a gallon and a half of water in the bottom of a lard can. At about 9:30 o'clock, leaving the child for a moment in a room on the first floor Mrs. Gaskins went up stairs to get her night clothing. Seeing the lard can the baby made for it. Just learning to stand the little one grasped the edges of the can and pulled itself up.

Always fond of paddling in water, the clear liquid at the bottom of the can attracted little Burnella, Mae and in her efforts to reach the water, it is supposed she tumbled in head foremost. No scream was heard by the mother. When she came down stairs she found her child practically dead. Doctors were called but it was too late.

The funeral will be held at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon and interment will be in the Charleroi cemetery. The child was a grand daughter of John Davis, a well known colored resident of the hill neighborhood.

Members of Charleroi Lodge No. 434, B. P. O. Elks will hold a hunting contest this year, as usual and C. W. Weltner, and James Walker have been chosen captains of the opposing sides. A meeting was held on last Saturday evening to make preliminary arrangements for the affair and another meeting will be held on Friday, October 20, when the sides will be chosen and the laws governing the hunt will be made by the hunt committee.

It was arranged to have the hunt take place November 2, 3, and 4. On the hunt committee the following were appointed: R. P. Ferguson, chairman; Tom P. Sloan, K. W. Daly and J. Bryant Tussing.

RIPPER BILL TO NOT RIP

Final Opinion On Mayor
and Burgess Question
Handed Down

HAS WHOLESAL EFFECT

By a decision of the State Supreme Court rendered at Pittsburgh yesterday the question of whether or not Charleroi and all the other towns in the State is to elect a burgess this fall, is finally settled in the negative. The present incumbents holds over, and no official will have his term of office cut short from the intention of the Legislature to conform to transferring the municipal election from February to November.

The decision was handed down by Justice Mestrezat of the Supreme Court. There are really two opinions one relating to cities of the second class, which disposes of all doubt as to Pittsburgh and Scranton and the other towns and cities of the third class which fixes the status of officials in cities and towns of the rest of the State. The specific cases, however, refer to Pittsburgh and McKeesport.

The opinion of Judge L. L. Davis, rendered a few weeks ago, is reversed and that of Judges Shafer and Haymaker sustained. The contention, as to the shortening of terms was based on the interpretation of a constitutional amendment adopted in 1909.

Walter Plakatis Inden-fied by Uncle on Monday

MAN NOW UNDER ARREST

Supposed Companion of the Young Lithuanian Held
at Monongahela.

Walter Plakatis, of Charleroi, was the man supposedly murdered near Riverview, last Saturday night. He was identified late Monday by his uncle, John Plakatis, of 914 Fallowfield avenue, and the body was brought here this morning. The murdered man was 22 years old.

According to the story told by the friends of the young Lithuanian he received his pay at the Macbeth-Evans Glass company on Saturday and in the evening started for Pittsburgh. He told a friend that he had to catch a certain car which left here shortly after 7 o'clock.

Another man is said to have got on the car with him, going to Riverview. It is supposed that the two got off together at the latter place, Plakatis intending to catch a car a little later to Pittsburgh. He had, it is said, practically all his pay for the week in his pocket, but that wouldn't total more than $20. While at the lonely spot near Riverview where his body was later found, it is supposed that he was attacked, but what became of his supposed friend of a moment before is a question.

Plakatis worked in the pot house at the local chimney factory and was a well liked young man. His friends think like others that he was murdered for his money. Coroner Heffran is investigating. The funeral will be held at 9 o'clock Wednesday morning with mass at St. Jerome's church. Interment will be in Calvary cemetery. Claimant Dargast, who is thought to have been the companion of Plakatis when the latter left Charleroi, was placed under arrest at Courtney and is now being held at Monongahela. He was arrested for shooting a revolver at Courtney Monday night and when taken to Monongahela it was found that he answered accurately the description of the companion of Plakatis. He will be held indefinitely. Dargast for 18 months was an inmate at the Huntingdon Reformatory and was let go from there four months ago.

LECTURE COURSE IS PERFECTED

Arrangements are now complete at Washington for the season of 1911-12 during which the University Extension Lecture association will present to the Washington public Prof. Charles Zeubin in a series of six lectures and Nox McCain in four new All American Travelogues. This double course is made possible only by the liberal patronage which has been given to the previous courses under university auspices.

Fayette City Wins.

The town of Fayette City took a half holiday Monday to witness the final baseball game of the season between that town and Cokeburg. Fayette City won by a score of 9 to 4.

NO COMPARISON.

E. F. Acheson, through the Washington Observer, endeavors to draw
a parallel between the slate of county
officials he made in 1905 and the so-called Republican slate nominated at
the recent primary. There is not only no distinction between the two but a vast difference, as well.

The Republican slate of 1905 was designed by Mr. Acheson, nominated by Mr. Acheson, and approved by no one but Mr. Acheson. As the nominations of the Republican party it won by the extraordinary use of boodles, bribe and the frantic appeals to partisan prejudices.

The so-called Republican slate of 1911 may have been named by a coalition of interested politicians as
charged, but it had to be submitted to the voters in open election, and it was to take its chances in a field against other good candidates. That it won, may be charged as much if
not more to the merits of the candidates themselves as to the help it got
from the alleged combination. The people were the final arbiters. They
had the chance to break the so-called
slate if it were obnoxious to them.

In Mr. Acheson's regime the people had no voice whatever in the matter. He stifled all competition, usurped the rights of the people, and nullified the ballot for his own interests. The people had no choice
in the nomination of candidates, and there was no competition. The offices were handed out to those selected by Mr. Acheson to receive them,
and no one dared to protest.

FOOLPROOF.

Manufacturers of high grade machinery usually advertise the fact that a particular model of their product is that it is "foolproof," that is,
it is made to withstand all the ordinary requirements of usage, but in addition extra strength is added to
insure against abuse and ill usage.
In other words, it is made extra

strong on account of the fool that usually runs it. If it were always cared for by an expert the machine
could be sold much cheaper and thus
cut down in the cost of production of whatever commodity it is designed to produce.

Thus it will be seen that a first-class product in the way of a machine
is the one that is designed to meet
the extraordinary requirements that
may be put upon it, and which are always sure to come in most instances.
This is a wise provision, and if the
same policy were carried out in all
constructive enterprises, there would be less disasters and loss of life. The bursting of the Austin dam is a striking example, because the dam was not built "foolproof." It was constructed to withstand all the ordinary requirements, but no provisions were made for the extraordinary.
It could hold the extra pressure of the ordinary freshet, but it could not
withstand a deluge, one of the extraordinary conditions that Nature
now and again imposes.

This failure to provide for the extraordinary is manifested on every side. Railroads seldom are prepared for extraordinary falls of snow or rain. Mines make no provisions for extraordinary accumulations of gas
or mine dust. People living along low river banks usually trust to Providence until the rainy day brings ru-ination. Large buildings, tenements, factories and workshops generally are
illegally provided with precautions for
safety, not only of the inmates but
of the property itself, and the tremendous fire losses each year are in a measure due to the absence of "foolproof" precautions. It is the extraordinary condition every time that
brings out the true test of endurance
or stability and those who are not prepared for it must suffer the consequences.

ELECTRIC SPARKS

It looks as though the present day postal employee would have to learn how to run an aeroplane or lose his job.

A meek expression is never supposed to sit upon the countenance of a high official or a rich man.

It's significant that it requires an American to help the Chinese develop their navy.

Whether a man is "looking with interest" or "staring" at a girl is de-

PICKED UP IN PASSING

Nearly every man has some kind of
fanatical hobby at some time during
his existence or acquires a mania for
some kind of specialty but the limit
was reached, according to the story of a Charleroi man the other day
when a man acquired a belief that a cat had a soul and that man could
learn something about what eternity
has in store for him from the cat.

"The man of whom I speak acquired the worst mania you ever saw with
the idea that all you had to do to commune with those who had their
souls' destiny in charge, was to capture a black cat, get into a dark cellar
and rub its fur. He thought the
light that showed was the cat's soul
and he had the queerest system of deduction you ever heard of in reaching his conclusions.

"I always thought his place was in an insane asylum. However he never seemed to get there. Nevertheless he acquired a positive genius
for hunting out and capturing black
cats and the neighborhood where he lived was as safe to the suspicious
person who was afraid to cross the path of a black cat, as the best lighted street in town.

"After a while he recovered from his mania. It was because he could not get the desired results, I suppose.
Then we all knew it was only a hobby, and went and acquired a few queer hobbies ourselves. It is my opinion that every human being has
in his make-up a trace of insanity
and shows it by his hobbies, queer to
the extreme, which he acquires at
various periods during his life time."

A traveling man tells a story of a tenderfoot who recently visited the cattle country in Arizona. At a small town in which was located the
customary saloon and gambling
house the stranger entered and approaching the bar called for a drink.
The barkeeper handed him a bottle, a glass and a wisp broom. The tender-
foot was wise as to the use of the bottle and glass, but he was at a lo-to account for the wisp broom. Not desiring to appear ignorant, he filled
his glass and stood with it in his
hand, surveying a gambling table apparently, but in reality waiting to see if some one else would precede him and enlighten him as to the use of the wisp.

Presently a cowboy approached the
bar and called for a drink. He too
was served with the bottle, glass and wisp. Gulping the fiery liquid he rushed to an unoccupied spot in the saloon, and with his wisp broom
swept a clean place on the floor and
then proceeded to throw a fit, which
the variety of whiskey produced.

REAL MADAME "SANS-GENE"

Story of Adventurous Career of Marie
Therese Figueur in the French
Army.

Everyone knows the washerwoman
who was so familiar with Napoleon
in Victorien Sardou's play, "Madame Sans-Gené," but the real "Sans-Gené" who lived at that time was a dragon in one of the great Corsican's armies
and spent twenty years in camps and
barracks, in campaigns and battles over Europe. In the Musée de l'Ar-mée in Paris a special case has just been installed inside which stands
her equestrian statue.

Her real name was Marie Therese Figueur and she was born in Burgundy in 1774. When nineteen, at the end of the reign of terror, she enrolled in a cavalry regiment commanded by one of her uncles and soon acquired the nickname of "Sans-Gené." Mme. Sans-Gené fought in Germany
with the French and Batavian armies,
charged at Hohenlinden, took part in the siege of Toulon, was in the Italian, Spanish and Austrian campaigns
and fought at Austerlitz and in Russia. During the Hundred Days the emperor conferred the Legion of Honor upon her and she charged at Wat-terloo for the last time.

With the Restoration she left the
army to get married. She was then thirty-nine. In the course of her marital career Sans-Gené had five horses shot under her and was wounded
eight times in different engagements.
She died in hospital in 1861.

The Nation of Hotel Keepers.

The "playground of Europe" is the
very appropriate name bestowed upon Switzerland. In the summer time
tourists come from all parts of the world and fill the hotels—the best organized and best kept of any in the world—for the Swiss are a nation of hotel keepers. The statement of the Chocolate Soldier, the hero of Bernard Shaw's "Arms and the Man," that
his family has a home with three hundred rooms, fifty servants, twenty
cows and so on, sounded like a baro-nial tale until he explained that he was the son of a Swiss hotel keeper.
Now the long and severe Swiss winter has been turned to advantage,
and even when the great blue lakes
are frozen and the snow mantles the
lower hills, the tourist still raves
over the varied beauties and grandeur
of the Swiss scenery and the many delights of her mountain hostleries.

ONE MILLION DOLLARS FOR A GOOD STOMACH

This Offer Should Be a Warning
to Every Man and Women

The newspaper and medical journals recently have had much to say
relative to a famous millionaire's offer of a million dollars for a new stomach.

This great multi-millionaire was
too busy to worry about the condition of his stomach. He allowed his dyspepsia to run from bad to worse
until in the end it became incurable.

His misfortune serves as a warning to others.

Every one who suffers with dyspepsia for a few years will give everything he owns for a new stomach.

Dyspepsia is commonly caused by
an abnormal state of the gastric juices, or by lack of tone in the walls of the stomach. The result is that the stomach loses its power to digest food.

We are now able to supply certain
missing elements—to help to restore
to the gastric juices their digestive
power, and to aid in making the stomach strong and well.

We know that Rexall Dyspepsia
Tablets are a most dependable remedy
for disordered stomachs, indigestion,
and dyspepsia.

We want you to try them and will return your money if you are not
more than satisfied with the result.

Three sizes, 25 cents, 50 cents and
$1.00. Remember, you can obtain Rexall Remedies in this community
only at our store—The Rexall Store, Carroll's Drug Store, 625 Fallowfield avenue, Charleroi, Pa.

Ancient Roman Long Branch.

The sea coast of Laurentum may have been in favor with the fashionable and the wealthy for a brief space of time under Augustus and his immediate successors, but was given
up quite soon to parvenues and merchants and retired officers, and the same set of noisy people who haunt at
the present day the popular watering
places of the world. To make the analogy more striking, an inscription
has been found at La Capocotta singing the praises of a wealthy Jew, and
revealing the fact that a synagogue
had been built at Ostia for the use of the Semitic "villegianti" on the neighboring coast.

The Ghost Walked.

The mistaken idea that one's troubles end with death was set aside in Starwich v. Washington Cut Glass Company 21 Wash. Dec. No. 13 (Adv.
Sheets), in which the supreme court
of Washington first announced that
the defendant corporation "gave up
the ghost." How it died is not fully apparent, but having yielded its spirit
to the one who made it, it still retained its worldly career, for in the next sentence, the court said: "But, that did not deliver it from the burden of
its contracts."

Evidently, in this case, the ghost walked, being "in torment." Who shall henceforth say that corporations
have no souls?—Case and Comment.

HARD BATTLE FOR THE DOG

Sport Killed the Big Bob Cat, but He Suffered Severely in the Combat.

After a battle in which he came near
meeting death himself, Sport, a medium sized coach dog, the property of W. M. Butterbaugh, a rancher living in Lemps Gulch, Idaho, killed a bob cat that measured six feet from nose
to tip of tail.

The dog was terribly scratched and
bitten and has not yet entirely recovered. He was mauled by the long,
sharp claws of the big cat and in some places the scratches are deep, digging clear to the bone. The cat would weigh half again as much as the dog,
and towered above him in height.

Mr. Butterbaugh did not see the fight, but arrived on the scene shortly after the dog had killed the cat
and found his faithful friend lying on
the ground, unable to move, and
scarcely living. It looked at the time
like a bad case, but he succeeded in nursing the animal back to life.

"For some days we had been missing chickens," Mr. Butterbaugh said,
"and I was unable to figure out what was killing them. I would get up in the morning and find one or two lying
dead in the barnyard, still warm, and
I could not tell what sort of an animal
was doing the mischief."

But Sport figured it out, and one morning I heard him take out after something. I got up as soon as I could
and followed up the gulch, expecting that they would take that trail. When I got there I found the dog lying on the ground and the big cat dead.

"The dog had chased him up there,
but the cat had turned on him and
shown fight. They must have fought
there 15 minutes before the battle was settled. And from the looks of both the cat and the dog it must have been a terrible battle."

An Incident of the Road.

"Stop!" cried the man in the road.
"You are exceeding the speed limit."
"That's all nonsense," retorted Blinks, bringing his car to a standstill.

"That's what they all say," said the man in the road, climbing into the car.
"You can tell your story to the magistrate at Hinktown—just seven miles
up the road. Start along, please."

They drove on in silence to Hink-
town, where, as the car drew up in front of the courthouse, the man in
the road got out.

"Much obliged for the lift," said
he. "You can settle that matter of
speed with the magistrate if you want
to. As a stranger in these here parts
I don't think my word would go for much."

POLITICS UP RIVER

California Has Four Tickets and Warm Fight is Promised

COAL COMPANY ON JOB

California, which has 557 registered voters has as much red hot politics to the square inch as any other district in the county. Like many of the smaller towns local politics divides more on personal factions than upon party issues. For some time past there has been a factional feeling between some of the town people and the interests of the Vesta Coal mining company, and many of the local battles are fought out on that issue. Whatever the coal company officials are for, many of the town people are "agin." The coal company is accused of working at elections to get officials who will favor their interests, and naturally the other side seeks to select officials known to be more or less hostile to the corporate interests of the big concern, and this invariable stirs up a fight.

It is this factional feeling, perhaps which has kept the Keystone movement in line. The coal company officials are good party men for the dominant ticket, and the opponents who are not Democrats gravitated unerringly into the Keystone party. In the recent primary election the local fight waxed warm, and with the result that there are four tickets in the field for local borough officials. These are Republican, Democratic, Keystone and Socialist. What complicates the matter more than ever, is that some candidates appear on two and three of the tickets, which is likely to cause a mixed up affair at the election.

For instance N. K. Wiley, for school director for two years, appears on the Republican, the Democratic and Keystone tickets, but is not on the Socialist ticket. Thomas Morgan, for high constable, is on the Democratic, Keystone and Socialist tickets, but is opposed by H. B. Lake on the Republican ticket. S. A. Barnum for school director for six years is on both the Democratic and Keystone tickets, but the Republicans nominated for that term L. D. Piper, and the Socialists Arthur Hawthorne. L. D. Piper was also nominated on both the Democratic and Keystone tickets for council for two years. For the four year term of council each of the tickets contain different candidates.

With the exception of T. J. Underwood for sheriff, the Republican slate of county candidates received decisive majorities in California borough. Mr. Underwood carried his home town over his opponent, R. G. Lutton, by a vote of 178 to 75.

There was no fusion between the Democrats and Keystone in the borough contest as in the county, and a merry fight at the November election is indicated

Refuse Requisition.

Governor Tener on Saturday refused to grant requisition papers for A. A. Purman of Waynesburg. The Governor of Iowa made the demand for A. A. Purman, but was refused on legal grounds. The charge was false pretense.

FIRST MEETING HELD BY MONESSEN CLUB

The Woman's Club of Monessen opened the season Friday afternoon with a president's day meeting and reception at the home of Mrs. John S. Duvall on Fourth street. Mrs. Duvall is the newly elected president. She was assisted in receiving by the retiring president of the club, Mrs. J. K. Boyd, and the other newly elected officers for the ensuing year. They are Mrs. E. C. Sattley, vice president; Mrs. C. L. Schuck, secretary and Mrs. T. S. Adams' treasurer. A short musical and literary program was carried out, Mrs. Duvall's inaugural address, being one of the most instructive and interesting features. Mrs. R. H. Thatcher rendered a violin solo and Mrs. A. L. Arner and Mrs. J. K. Boyd sang a duet. Meetings of the club will be held twice a month during the season.

Foreign Countries Devising Schemes for Benefit of Large Users of the Mails.

Any man who can devise a practical substitute for the postage stamp will deserve the gratitude of every large business house in the world, and may earn a large fortune. For the labor of affixing stamps to their enormous mail necessitates in some firms the employment of a special clerical staff.

In the postoffices of some countries steps in this direction have already been taken. Here, for instance, newspapers and magazines are mailed by their publishers in bulk without stamps, and the postage is paid in a lump sum of one cent a pound. Then, again, some firms that send out large quantities of circulars register themselves under a certain number at the postoffice, their envelopes are printed with this number and the circulars so mailed are paid for in bulk. In Bavaria large consignments of letters may merely be postmarked by machinery and sent without stamps, the postage fee being paid in a lump sum at the time of mailing. It is said that since February 1, 1910, this system has saved the Bavarian postoffice the expense for paper and the printing cost for 10,000,000 stamps.

A writer in the Umschau, a German publication, suggests a further development of this system along the lines of a meter, like those used for water, gas and electricity, in which the letters would be placed and automatically stamped with a postmark, the machine recording each letter so mailed. These machines would be inspected periodically and the bills collected, just as are those of the consumer of gas or water.

Jim's Wife.

After the report had been current for a week that Jim's wife, whom Jim had met and married and was still secluding in Chicago, was ugly as sin, a friend who had Jim's interests at heart, ran down the author of the rumor with the intention of making her retract.

"How do you know she is ugly?" he asked. "Have you ever seen her?" "No," said the experienced gossip. "I never have. neither have I seen her picture, nor anybody who has seen either her or her picture, but I know she is ugly, because I had it straight from a person who lives in Chicago that when she ordered a dozen pictures taken just a while before the wedding the photographer made her pay in advance, and a photographer never does that unless the subject is so ugly that she is apt to be discouraged when she sees the pictures and refuse to pay for them on the ground that he hasn't done good work. If you don't believe me ask any photographer."

But Jim's champion let the matter drop.—New York Times

LIVERY STABLE STOCK IN VENICE!

If a man of ordinary intelligence were approached by an affable stranger and urged to buy stock in a livery stable in Venice, he would in all likelihood feel insulted. He would have reason to be, for such an offer would be a reflection on his intelligence.

It is along lines like this that some business men advertise.

For instance: A clothier has a line of suits near the end of the season that he desires to close out. He advertises them at a sharp reduction. Compared with what he paid for them and what he sold them for at the opening of the season, they are a bargain. The public does not want the suits at that particular time at any price, and the clothier, not getting the results, makes a deduction that advertising doesn't pay, and ceases to advertise.

In the meantime the big department store in the nearest city is flooding the newspapers with cuts and descriptions of nifty ties, collars, marked down shirts that are good at any time, seasonable underwear at special prices that is needed to fill in between times.

The local dealer is disappointed because people won't buy stock in a livery stable in Venice; and loses the sale of other stocks that might be practicable.

The department store in the city gets the trade because it knows that the ordinary person has no use for something he does not need at that particular time.

The business man who never gets advertising to produce results are the Micawbers of trade—always waiting for something to turn up. The man who knows how to advertise, and tries to sell the people something they want, WHEN THEY WANT IT and not to unload what he doesn't want—turns something up.

Rossini's witticisms bubbled forth at all times and under all circumstances, says Musical Opinion. On one occasion a gentleman called upon him to enlist his aid in procuring for him an engagement at the opera. He was a drummer and had taken the precaution to bring his instrument. Rossini said he would hear him "play," and it was agreed that he should show off in the overture to "Semiramide."

Now, the very first bar of the overture contained a tremolo for the drum, and when this had been performed the player remarked, "Now I have a rest of 78 bars—these, of course, I will skip." This was too good a chance to be lost. "O, no," said the composer, "by all means count the 78 bars; I particularly want to hear those." Rossini's whimsicality extended even to his birthday. Having been born on February 29, in leap year, he had, of course, a birthday once in four years, and when he was seventy-two he facetiously invited his friends to celebrate his eighteenth birthday.

The late Sir Arthur Sullivan made his acquaintance in Paris. One morning, when Sullivan called to see him, he found him trying over a small piece of music. "What is that?" asked Sullivan. "It's my dog's birthday," replied, very seriously, "and I write a little piece for him every year."

When Rossini was once rehearsing one of his operas in a small theater in Italy he noticed that the horn was out of tune. "Who is that playing the horn in such an unholy way?" he demanded. "It is I," said a tremulous voice. "Ah, it is you, is it? Well, go right home." It was his own father!

UNCLE HIRAM TO HIS NEPHEW

He Hopes the Boy Will Turn Out to Be Good Judge of Men, When His Turn Comes.

"Stever, my boy," said Uncle Hiram to his hopeful nephew, "I hope it will turn out that you are a good judge of men, for by virtue of that quality a man is able in effect to multiply his own power.

"It is a common thing to hear people say that the more pay a man gets the less work he does, and as to the doing of actual labor this may be true; somebody else saws the wood while he sits by the fire.

"As a matter of fact there are plenty of men high up who still work hard, and all of them certainly worked hard when they were younger, and if they are doing less actual labor now it is because they are good judges of men, able to pick out for the business under their direction just the right men to do the work and carry it forward successfully.

"Really it is in the exercise of this gift that we find the greatest value in a manager; it is just this that makes him worth his high pay. We want him to sit around and take things easy and give himself time to think and keep his head clear. We don't want him to get out and chop down trees; we want him to be able to select men who can do that work to the greatest advantage and with the greatest economy.

"Some of us know men on sight and some don't. I hope, Stever, that you will turn out to be a good judge of men."

DANDRUFF AND ITCH- ING SCALP YIELD TO ZEMO TREATMENT

Why should you continue to experiment with salves, greasy lotions and fancy hair dressings trying to rid your scalp of germ life. They can't do it because they cannot penetrate to the seat of the trouble and draw the germ life to the surface of the scalp and destroy it.

Whynot try a PROVEN REMEDY? One that will do this. We have a remedy that will rid the scalp of germ life and in this way will cure DANDRUFF AND ITCHING SCALP.

This remedy is ZEMO (ANTISEPTIC SOAP and one application of ZEMO will entirely rid the scalp of dandruff and scurf. Do not hesitate, but get a bottle of ZEMO today. It acts on a new principle and will do exactly what we claim for it.

Lungs Declared Sound— Life Insurance Granted

If you knew a remedy that really had cured Tuberculosis; that had saved from death quite a number of people, would you try to get Consumptives interested in it and induce them to take it; or, would you say nothing about it for fear of giving offense?

We know the medicine. We know the people cured—some of them. We have the stories of cure of many—and affidavits from some. We advertise Eckman's Alternative to tell those who have lung disease what has been done by its use. Investigate the following:

"Gentlemen: On the evening of May 18, 1907, I had a hemorrhage from the right lung. My hemorrhages kept up for one week—I had twenty-eight in all. Septic pneumonia developed. My doctor told me I had better go to another climate, as my left lung had also become affected. About that time I met Howard Klez, 1619 Susquehanna Ave., Philadelphia, who had hemorrhages several years ago and who was cured by Eckman's Alternative. I started to take Eckman's about the latter part of August, 1907. My appetite improved at once and in about two weeks I started to gain weight. I improved steadily. Since my recovery sometime ago, I was accepted for life insurance, after two examinations by a company that had previously rejected me.

"I have advised several people to take Eckman's and those who took it faithfully had the same results as myself." (Signed Arthur) CHAS. MORGAN. (Fuller details of this case on request.) Eckman's Alternative is effective in Bronchitis, Asthma, Hay Fever, Throat and Lung Troubles, and in upbuilding the system. Does not contain poisons, opiates or habit-forming drugs. Ask for booklet of cured cases and write to Eckman Laboratory, Philadelphia, Pa., for more evidence. For sale by all leading druggists and

NATURE'S WARNING

Charleroi People Must Recognize and Heed It.

Kidney ills come mysteriously. But nature always warns you. Notice the kidney secretions. See if the color is unhealthy—If there are settlements and sediment. Passages frequent, scanty, painful. It's time to use Doan's Kidney Pills. To ward off serious diseases. Doan's have done great work in Charleroi.

Mrs W. L. Evans, 104 Lookout avenue, Charleroi, Pa., says: "Several years ago a member of my family complained of a dull pain in the small of the back and difficulty with the kidney secretions. Doan's Kidney Pills were used and proved so beneficial that when the person referred to recently began to suffer again from kidney trouble Doan's Kidney Pills were immediately procured at Piper Bros. Drug Store. They again proved to be a good remedy for disordered kidneys. I highly recommend this excellent preparation to other kidney sufferers."

Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Read These Facts About BUTTERINE

Butterine contains more food properties than butter. It costs only half as much as good butter. Its use is more beneficial to the health than butter. It is germ proof, while butter has some tendency to germ culture. It contains the same elements as butter, and is made in a more perfect and sanitary way. It is used in many instances in preference to butter, because it is better. It gives better service than butter. It does not become rancid easily. It is clean, sweet and pure.

About three years ago, when the United States Laboratory, at the old Arsenal grounds, Pittsburgh, was just emerging from its infancy into lustrous youth, representatives of bureaus of mining of foreign governments came to America to see tests of explosives and other experiments at the laboratory and to visit some of the model mines of the Pittsburgh region. An expert was present at those tests and each and all of the foreigners said to him that the U. S. Laboratory and the intellectual equipment of the laboratory was more complete than any similar plant in their own countries.

At that time the laboratory was operated under direction of the Geological Survey at Washington. A Bureau of Mines had only been thought of. Then came the bureau in connection with the Department of the Interior, with Dr. J. A. Holmes, who formerly directed the experiments as the chief of the Bureau of Mines. With additional equipment, authority and appropriation of moneys, the laboratory has increased its machinery for operation and other phases of the work until it is beyond all comparison the most elaborate and thorough institution of its type in all the world.

In the presence of this new and universal importance the Bureau of Mines by authority of the Government Department under which it operates, has organized a National Mine Safety Demonstration, the first in America and with an elaboration which has never been approached in the world. From morning until night on the 30th and 31st of this month, these demonstrations will occupy every hour and minute. In this vast mining region the demonstrations will be of interest to all, but of profoundest interest to those immediately connected with mining and most especially to practical miners and operators, as they have to do directly with prevention of explosions which have been so disastrous in the past years, with consideration for the safety of miners and their immediate relief in the event that explosions occur.

It is expected that more than 20,000 miners will be present, chosen representatives of important interests in every coal mining State. They will witness explosions of various kinds of explosives, the effect of them in varying conditions of gases and coal dust in the mine mines at the laboratory and at one to be erected at Forbes Field much larger than any that has yet been constructed; and not only this, but they will be brought to the experimental mine near Bruce-ton, a short distance from Pittsburgh, where explosions will be produced in an actual mine and the mine representatives brought into the mine immediately after to show them how quickly the shaft and rooms can be cleared of all gases.

All of the most approved machinery for safety and rescue will be exhibited in operation. More thrilling than any stage drama will be the actual explosions; apparent destruction of life, acts of rescue, the safety oxygen helmets by rescuers; treatment of miners seriously injured, resuscitation of men apparently dead by use of wonderful oxygen pumps; rescue ambulance and cars; first aid to the injured in the event of any kind of accident, a scene, in its aggregate, which has never before been witnessed in the world. While the explosions and first aid demonstrations at Forbes Field will be as absorbing as could well be imagined, the greatest interest of the visiting mines will be the actual explosion in the experimental mine at Bruce-ton, the first exhibition of its kind ever made, advertised in advance and certain to occur, but destruction of property which follows the unexpected explosions.

Additional and exceptional interest will be given to the entire program by the fact that much of it will have the presence of President Taft, a "kills two birds with one stone" by coming on to the mine demonstrations and the Centenary Steam Navigation on Pittsburgh's rivers.

MYSTERY OF THE HOUSEHOLD

Disappearance and Return of Lady's Summer Dress Couldn't Be Laid to the Servant.

Up spoke the woman who likes to keep her apartment in order: "A household mystery happens once in a while," she said. "I had one a few days ago about a summer dress that I bought last fall when the weather was too cold to wear it. I packed it away and forgot about it until the other day. Then I went to the box in a certain closet where I knew I had put it. The dress wasn't there. I looked through the rest of the closet without any better success. Then I got excited and turned everything upside down every where that I thought it could be. Finally I went into the storeroom and looked through all the trunks. Not a sign of it. So I had to give it up. "Later my servant brought me a box which had come up the dumb waiter. Inside was my dress. There wasn't a mark on the box to show that it belonged to me. The only explanation I could think of was that some one had taken it, found that it didn't fit and had decided to return it." "It never occurred to you, did it, that that some one could have been your servant?" she was asked. "No, it didn't," said she with a shrug. "You see, he's a Jap."—New York Sun.

She Knew What to Do.

A North side matron, directing an electric coupe for the first time, ventured far out on the South side and punctured a tire. She drove home on the rim and came in for a scientific treatise on tires from her husband. "Never drive the electric with a busted tire," said he. "It will ruin the tire, and tires cost money." Another puncture followed a few days later, but this time she was not far from home. Also this time she did not drive the rest of the way. She sat in her chariot and six boys pushed her home.—Chicago Post.

A Faithful Father-in-Law.

Two of the guided youth of Providence R. I. were in Newport and came upon a newsboy. "Let me have a paper," said one of them, giving the boy 50 cents. "I can't change that," said the boy. "Let me have a nickel." The guided youth asked his companion. "Oh, bother, let him have the 50 cents." "No, indeed! You let him have it if you like. My father-in-law is not dead, and yours is."—Life.

The Collector.

The late Edwin A. Abbey had no sympathy with those American millionaires who pay $400,000 or $500,000 for a doubtful Rembrandt or an imputed Fragonard while painters of genius in their own towns are starving for lack of orders. Mr. Abbey, at a dinner at his London residence in Tite street, said last year, apropos of the purchase by a New Yorker of a doubtful Titian at an inflated price. "This type of man knows nothing about art. A man of this type, when Whistler was not yet famous, wanted his wife's portrait done. "How much will you charge me, Mr. Whistler," he said "for a life-size picture of the madam?" "My price," said Whistler, "will be $5,000." "The millionaire took up his hat and sick. "Why," he snorted, turning to go, "you expect to be paid for your work as if you had been dead 400 or 500 years!"

White Heron in New Jersey.

Local naturalists and bird lovers are interested in a number of white heron which are making their headquarters at Avis' Pond, Woodstown, N. J., about a mile from town. The birds were first noticed about a week ago. These are the birds from which aligettes are obtained. Extinction of the species is feared because the aligettes can be obtained only when the bird is raising its young, and its death at the hands of the hunter also means starvation of the young heron.

Gentlemen

Take Notice

The other day a man came in the store, and said "Give me another pair of them Co-Operative shoes, if you haven't got them don't show me anything else, I'd rather have you send for a special pair. I have tried, honest, every shoe sold in this town, from the most unknown to the most bragged about, but never did I have as satisfactory a pair as this Co-Operative I have on my feet, and I want another pair."

This is not the first or only token of appreciation of our efforts to please our customer in selling them the best made shoes at the most reasonable prices.

We carry the best made lines in ladies', Men's and children's shoes and sell them reasonable.

We study our business night and day in order to get the best to satisfy our customers with.

Be one of our satisfied customers, try the store that is known for its honest and square dealing.

but what has been called the McKeesport "ripper" was due to an act of the last Legislature defining the terms of officials of cities of the third class and which it had been claimed was "sneaked" through in the closing hours of the Legislature.

This finally settles the contention on which attorneys were divided and although the commissioners had refused to permit the names of burgess and other officials affected to be printed on the tickets, there was still a question as to the legality of their action until the Supreme Court had passed upon the question. The case testing the legality of the question was brought from Pittsburgh.

Book Club Forming.

The local book club, which has been in existence for several years, is making arrangements to reorganize for the season. All desiring to become members are requested to communicate with either Mrs. W. H. Coles or Mrs. E. C. Niver.

Sold Property.

Noah H. Cook, of North Charleroi, has sold to Nathan W. Henning, a parcel of land in North Charleroi, in the Lock View plan, fronting 30 feet on Center avenue. The consideration is $1,800.
